Note: Watermark Faculty Success is a relational database. For example, if multiple Skidmore users authored an article, the first user to enter the citation is considered the "owner" of the record. When a user enters the citation, the record will be associated with ALL of the collaborating authors. If you see a record that says, "Entered By: Faculty Name," then a co-contributor has already created the record. Please do not create a duplicate record. If any of the information entered by your co-contributor is incorrect, please work with that individual to correct it.
